CHAPTER CCCLXXXIII.

An AOT to settle the Boundary Line between this State and the State of Tennessee.

Approved February 10, 1816.

WHEREAS a dispute exists as to the true position Preamble. of the boundary line between this state and the state of Tennessee, which has produced many attempts at accommodation, hitherto unsuccessful; and the state of Vol. V.

Tennessee, by an act of its legislature, passed on the 17th day of November 1815, has appointed a commissioner to wait on the constituted authorities of this state, and adopted the principles for adjusting the said boundary line; and although this state cannot meet every proposition contained in the said recited act, and pass one on the part of this state in all respects similar; because, first, the establishment of Walker's line (as it is usually called) would not determine the whole extent of boundary between the two states; and secondly, because this legislature is forbidden by our own constitution, to form any compact with a sister state, or do any other thing within the purview of legislative authority, which might take from individuals a right of property in lands near the contemplated line, without previously paying the claimants a compensation therefor: Yet, the legislature of this state being willing to keep open the door of accommodation and adjustment, and feeling desirous that mutual harmony between the two states should not be molested by a territorial controversy, do propose the following terms:

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the Times point- Commonwealth of Kentucky, That the line usually called Walker's line, so far as it was originally run and marked, to wit: From a point near the mouth of Obed's, alias Aba's river, to the Tennessee river, be the true jurisdictional line between this state and the state of Tennessee. And as to the residue of the line between the two states, the following shall be adopted as the true position thereof: At the eastern extremity of Walker's line, near the mouth of Obed's river aforesaid, a line shall be run at right angles, either north or south, as the case may require, till it reaches the true chartered limits of the two states, in the latitude of thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes north; and from that point the line shall be extended to the east, still keeping the same latitude, till it reaches the eastern boundary of this state. And at the west extremity of Walker's line, to wit, at the Tennessee river, a line shall be extended up or down said river (as the case may require) till it reaches the true chartered latitude of thirty-six degrees and thirty minutes north; and from that point the line shall be extended due west, still keeping the same latitude, till it reaches the river Mississippi. And the line so pointed out by this act, shall be, and remain the true jurisdictional line between this state and the state of Tennessee: Provided, the following articles, conditions and stipula- Proviso. tions hereby adopted on behalf of this state, are acceded to on the part of the state of Tennessee, to wit:

First.—The lines so pointed out, shall be marked or Lines to be re-marked, and well cleared, at the joint expence of ascertained & each state, by two commissioners, attended with proper marked at the surveyors, chainmen, markers and laborers. And one joint expense of said commissioners shall be appointed by each state. And in running that part of the line called Walker's Com'rs. how line, the commissioners shall be governed by the old to be governmarks, if they can be found, or the most notorions places ed in running of the line, as now acknowledged, still making the line lines, &c. as straight as can be practicable, if the old line shall be found to be crooked.

Second .- The true chartered limits between the two second artistates, shall be run on that part now supplied by Walk- cle. er's line, and marked in numerous places, so that hereafter it may be found with case and convenience, and may furnish evidence of the situation of claims, when they shall be adjusted as hereafter directed.

Third.—If the true chartered limits in that part of the Third spice. line supplied by Walker's line, shall turn out to be north of Walker's line, and encroach on what is now under the jurisdiction of Kentucky, and any fair connected titles to land derived under the laws of the states of North-Carolina or Tennessee, completed by patent from the proper authority, shall appear between Walker's line and the true chartered line, and shall interfere with any title, or cover any occupant, holding title under the laws of this state or the state of Virginia, the claimants, at their option, may relinquish such claim, and be entitled to compensation for the value thereof, from the state of of Kentucky, ascertained in a manner pointed out by this act; or such claimants may take any remedy to recover the land, which may be most proper for their case. And if, on the contrary, the true chartered limits shall be south of Walker's line, and include a portion of the land now under the jurisdiction of the state of Tehnessee, and any fair connected titles to land, derived under the laws of the states of Virginia or Kentucky, completed by patent from the proper authority, shall appear between Walker's line and the true chartered line, and shall interfere with any title, or cover any occupant holding title under the laws of the states of North-Carolina or Tennessee, the claimants, at their option, may relinquish such claim, and be entitled to compensation for the value thereof, from the state of Tennessee, ascertained in the manner pointed out by a stipulation between the two states; or such claimants may take any remedy to recover the land, which may be most proper for their case.

Fourth article.

Fourth.-If any claimant holding title under one state, shall not elect to take compensation for the land, according to the next preceding article, and shall by any suit in law or equity, recover the land from any occupant holding title under the laws of the other state, he shall be compelled, in a mode pointed out by the laws governing such court where the recovery may be had, to compensate the occupant for his improvements on the land, according to their intrinsic value, without any deduction for rents or waste; and for such compensation the occupant shall have a lien on the land so recovered : and shall not be disturbed in the possession thereof, till the compensation, legally ascertained, shall be paid to such occupant.

Fifth.—If any claim for land shall fall between Walk-Mich article. er's line and the true chartered limits, and shall come under the jurisdiction, by this arrangement, of the state from which such title did not originate, and shall not be patented when the line is thus settled, and shall interfere with a title derived from the state to whom the jurisdiction shall be assigned by this compact, no patent shall ever issue therefor; and all patents issued contrary to this article shall be void.

Sixth .- If in the territory ceded by this compact. sixth article, there shall exist any claim between Walker's line and the true chartered limits, which claim shall be regularly derived, under the laws of either state, or the parent states, and shall not interfere with any other claimant, but shall be on land vacant as to other claims, the same shall be, and is hereby ratified; and if not completed by patent, provision shall be made by the state into whose jurisdiction it may fall, to complete the title by the emanation of the grant.

Secenth .- And whereas it is believed that many claims granted for actual settlement under the laws adopted by the state of Kentucky, since its separation from Virginia, were granted contrary to the true intent and meaning of said laws, without any actual bona fide settlement; and that some of them are laid south of what is actually Walker's line; and it is also believed that many removed certificates under the laws of the commonwealth of Kentucky, originally granted for actual settlement, have been removed and located for speculative purposes, south of Walker's line: Now it is hereby declared, that such claims, where they interfere with any claims derived under the laws of North-Carolina and Tennessee, south of Walker's line, are not aided by the provisions of this act; and that the owners of such claims shall not be entitled to any compensation under this compact, provided they fall within the ceded territory; nor shall the state of Tennessee be bound to allow patents to emanate for such claims, unless they are entered on land entirely vacant.

Eighth.—If any claimant between Walker's line and Eighth artithe true chartered limits, shall choose to relinquish his cle. claim, according to the first article of this compact, he may produce authenticated copies of his title papers to any court of general jurisdiction of matters of law and equity, in the state of Kentucky, which may held its sessions nearest the lands so to be relinquished; and also to some court of the state of Tennessee, which may possess general jurisdiction of matters of law and equity, and which may hold its sessions nearest the lands so to be relinquished; and said courts shall each appoint some discreet person to act as commissioner to value said lands so to be relinquished, if the claim shall come within this act; and said two commissioners shall proceed to appoint and associate with them one other commissioner; and the three being duly sworn before some judge or justice of the peace, well and truly to value the land so relinquished, according to the best of their skill and judgment, without partiality or favor to either party, and without regard to any improvements, which may have been made thereon, shall proceed to value said: lands, and certify the same under their hands and scals; and on producing said valuation to the court appointing the commissioner, in the state where the land lies, and also producing a certified copy of the relinquishment of said land, according to the laws of that state where the ..
